

Call for new social research projects in the East of England

Ci works with the public and third sectors in the East of England.

Our people-focused research provides the inspiration for new and improved solutions and the evidence to help win the resources to make them happen.

If you have a issue we should include in our research programme for 2012-15 please get in touch before the end of November 2011.

Working to improve the lives of people in the East of England since 1992

Helping young people learn about drugs and alcohol

For NORCAS we developed a peer-led evaluation to help improve the design of a new drugs and alcohol service

Helping people with disabilities access important information

For SCC we led a creative consultation with marginalised adults to help overcome barriers to accessing

Helping the NHS to improve bereavement support

For the Strategic Health Authority we conducted qualitative research with people who lost someone close to them

Helping make libraries work for families and young people

For the Suffolk Libraries Service we led creative consultation with young people and families

Helping introduce new people to the arts, museums and heritage

For the New Wolsey Theatre we conduct audience research to improve the visitor experience and reach new audiences

Helping older people achieve the final years they hope for

For SCC we researched attitudes to social care among older people in the most disadvantaged Wards in Suffolk

Helping young people learn through culture

For Suffolk County Council and Colchester Borough Council we mapped the cultural offer for young people

Ci is known for its people-centred approach to researching sensitive issues with 'hard to engage' populations including:

People with learning disabilities, physical disabilities and mental health issues. Family Carers the frail elderly and young people. Refugees and asylum seekers. Adults living in extremely deprived areas and people who have recent experience of bereavement.

Got issues?

If you have an issue you think we can help with call us at an early stage.

You do not need the resources to fund the project at this stage. If it suits our programme we be pleased to help identify partners to resource the programme.

Please note we are only able to consider projects or issues where your organisation could be a core partner.
